Mens', Youths' and Boys' Clothing Department

The distinguishing feature of our really grand display of Readymade Garments for Mens', Youths' and Boys' Wear, consists in Surgeons Room 21 Baker Block, Los Angles Geles, Cal. the fact that the material used is of the very best the looms of Foreign and Domestic Manufacturers can bring forth. Linings and Trimmings being first-class, correspond in texture, as well as fabric, with the material of the garment. As to the cut and fit, the garments are indeed an eminent success, and elicit highly flattering criticisms from all sides. Through untiring efforts we have succeeded in securing an assortment of CHILDREN'S SUITS and OVERCOATS which will meet the appreciation of our patrons, being, in all respects, the most complete and most choice assortment displayed by any house on the Pacific Coast.

HAT DEPARTMENT.

In the line of Hats we show all the Latest Styles and most celebrated makes of Soft and Stiff Finished Goods.

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS DEPARTMENT.

In this department we introduce this season a better and finer class of Underwear and Hosiery than ever before offered in this market, while our superior make of White and Fancy Shirts, aided by a mammoth stock to select from, will sustain its enviable reputation as "The Best in the Land." In Neckties, Scarfs and Dress Cravats the selection is brilliant. In Linen Collars and Cuffs we offer none but approved makes of fashionable designs.

Our Grand Show Windows will display a few of the Leading Styles, and it will be worth your while to pause for a moment in front of the "Clothing Window."

Sporting Notes from the State and Beyond its Borders.

Farmers and Field Sports-Novel Way o hing a Fox—Exciting Deer Hun General Sporting Notes.

How often in my city den,
When tired with the files,
I close my eyes and floats away
To pleasant forest aisles.

I mark along the canyon side The hues of varied green, And gleaming, like a copper staff, Madrona's trunk between.

I lie beside the noisy brook

The great, grand page—so new, yet old, So vast, so clear, so broad— Where every joyous season writes The poetry of God.

No martial rhymes of clanging war, No rancorous strifes of men, But songs of peace, and rest and love Flow from that mighty pen.

Some sweet-voiced bird the strain begins With proud, ambitious trill; The song of God the trees take up And breathe it to the rill.

It sweeps along the rustling grain
In tender melody;
And now the pines look whispering down
And voice it to the sea.

Oh, song of songs! how weak, how tan.e, By thee sound mortal rhyme— Thy fame is for the centuries, Thou conqueror of time,—[Dan O'Connell, in S. F. Exchange.

His fields and woods are the homes and hauuts of the birds and beasts of venery, from the beginning of the year to its end, and in his streams many of the fishes pass their lives. By his woodside the quail builds her nest, and when the foam of blossom has dried away on the buckwheat fields she leads away on the buckwheat fields she leads her young there to feed on the brown kernel stranded on the coral stems. If he chances to follow his wood road in early June, the ruffed grouse limps and flutters along it before him while callow chicks vanish as if by a conjurer's trick from beneath his very footfall. A month later, grown to the size of robins, they will scatter on the wing from his path with a vigor that foretells the bold whirr and the swiftness of their flight in their grown-up.

The animal it seems found himself suddenly intercepted by the stage and within a few feet of one of the wheel horses. It did not turn back, however, but started to run ahead of the team and get by that way, when the driver concluded to hurry him up by giving him a cut with his whip, when to his surprise, which was probably as great as that of the fox, the whip lash wound around the animal's neck, formed a loup and knotted itself as neatly as could have been done by hand and to far less time. It was done in a twinkling, and finding himself caught, Reynard began to jump around in a frantic manner, getting nearly under the leader's feet, frightening the horse so as to make him nearly unmanageable, while the driver found himself with more on his hands than he had bargained for.
